AMERICA AND THE CHINESE.

AN APPRECIATION.

We have received a copy of a pamphlet entitled "America and Asia," being a survey of the present critical conditions in the trade of the United States with the Far East. As an address it was delivered by the Hon. John Barrett, ex-U.S. Minister for Siam, by request, before the Trans-Mississippi Congress at Portland, (Oregon) in August last. We make the following extracts from the brochure.

THE CHINESE BOYCOTT.
We are face to face with a crisis that has come upon us with startling rapidity, but convincing force. The Chinese Boycott, in the term of its native advocates, is the culmination of influences that have been at work for years, and represents the climax of remonstrance against the failure of our people, in the opinion of the Chinese, to carry out the principle of the Golden Rule in dealing with Asiatics.

The defenders and promoters of the boycott have declared in effect that China is asking a "new deal" and a "square deal" in her relations with the foreign world. They say that she is awakening to a sense of her inherent rights and of her latent power; that she is realizing as never before the value of her markets and the capacity of her vast population directed along advanced lines.

While as a Government she can not possibly have any unkind feeling toward our Government and the present administration as such, and should remember with gratitude how the United States has stood without wavering for the integrity of the Empire and the principle of the Open Door, the Chinese higher classes, including merchants, scholars, and travellers; can not understand why they should be treated differently from the corresponding classes of other races and nations who may wish to enter the United States.

MISTAKEN IMPRESSIONS OF CHINA.
There is no greater mistake than to think of China as a nation exclusively of coolies. She has millions of men distributed over her empire who possess an intelligence, refinement, and wealth, and who represent a standard of mental, physical, and moral quality that entitles them to the respect of the foreign world.

The average foreigner, who on the one hand visits Chinatowns in San Francisco or New York and then on the other hand travels up and down the coast of the Far East and takes an occasional run into the centre of Chinese cities, concludes that China is a nation only of labourers, coolies, and petty merchants. The passing traveller, newspaper correspondent, and superficial student write letters and articles to this effect. All these stories tend to excite labouring men in the United States and cause them to believe that China is one vast horde of hungry men waiting to sweep down on the United States. While it must be frankly admitted that the average Chinese coolie and the average Chinese city do not strike the American and European as representing his standards of men and cities, yet it is a fact that the conclusions just mentioned are an injustice to the very large number of educated and well-to-do Chinese throughout the Empire.

A man who goes through the narrow streets of Canton, Peking, Nanking, and Wuchang does not see the elaborate homes of the upper classes of Chinese hidden by the rows of shops that line the streets. He does not realize that there are a large number of well-kept compounds almost within a stone's throw of the crowded alley through which he is being carried. If he should journey in an air ship over any great city in China he would be astonished to discover the number of capacious private grounds, right in the heart of its cities, owned by wealthy Chinese.

CHINESE STUDENTS AND MERCHANTS.
If the American, who always regards Chinese as coolies, could attend one of the principal periodical examinations, where representative educated Chinese gather from all over the empire, he would marvel at the intelligence, refined and pleasing appearance, of its thousands of young men. They will compare most favourably in general demeanour, in stature, in dress, and look with a corresponding class of American college men. If an American merchant could be present at the assemblies of Chinese merchants which are held from time to time in different cities throughout China, he would express profound surprise at their business-like way of doing things, and their well-bred characteristics. Our missionaries who go all over China have repeatedly emphasised that Europeans and Americans do not seem to be able to comprehend the real China and to take into consideration that it is only one side of Chinese life that is represented by coolies with whom they come in touch either in San Francisco or Shanghai.

We are too prone to think that, because a man does not speak a European language and is not familiar with European or American literature and history he is not educated or even civilized. We overlook the fact that the Chinese language, literature, historical teachings, system of education and social regulations are entirely apart from ours. They are sui generis and are, in the opinion of the Chinese, as well suited for their people as ours are for us.

In proportion to the population there is less crime, no more "graft," less immorality, less business dishonesty, and less violation of the law in China than there is in the United States. I do not for a moment suggest that Chinese civilization is in any way superior to that of America, but I do say that we should not hold the sixpence of racial and natural self admiration so near our eyes that we can not see the good qualities of other races and nations.

RACIAL AND NATIONAL PRIDE.
The Chinese have a distinct racial and national pride that we are prone to overlook. They are proud of their own peculiar civilization, of their philosophy and philosophy, of their unrivalled antiquity as an independent nation, of their customs, characteristics, social fabric, political home, and population, and great potential wealth. The fact that from our standpoint they may not have seemed to possess this pride and knowledge, and to take advantage of it in world-stunning political and material development like the United States and Japan in no sense proves the lack of its existence. It is only a question of time when China, like Japan, will startle the world with her onward movement; and yet it was only a few years ago that foreigners looked upon the Japanese, as they do now upon the Chinese.

who have used it, or are now using it, we have never heard of any one who has been disappointed in it. No claims are made for it except those which are amply justified by experience. In recommending it to the afflicted we simply point to its record. It has done great things, and it is certain to continue the excellent work. There is—we may honestly affirm—no medicine which can be used with greater and more reasonable faith and confidence. It nourishes and keeps up the strength during those periods when the appetite fails and food cannot be digested. To guard against imitations and substitutions, our "trade mark" is put on every bottle of "Wampole's Preparation," and without it none is genuine. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Taken before meals it creates an appetite, aids digestion, renews vital power, drives out disease germs, makes the blood rich, red and full of constructive elements, and gives back to the pleasures and labours of the world many who had abandoned hope. Dr. S. H. McCoy, of Canada, says: "I testify with pleasure to its unlimited usefulness as a tissue builder." Its curative powers can always be relied upon. It makes a new era in medicine, is beneficial from the first dose and represents effective medical treatment of the twentieth century. "You can trust it as the Ivy does the Oak." One bottle convinced. Watch carefully against imitations. At all chemists here and throughout the world.

THE REGISTRATION OF PARTNERSHIPS.

The trend of commercial opinion in the Straits Settlements regarding the merits of the Registration of Partnerships Bill—which is an admitted necessity if business is to be transacted in a legitimate and above-board fashion—has been watched with the utmost interest in Hongkong, since a similar measure is desirable here, also. The Bill was framed by the Government law officers, assisted by the advice of the official Assignee, and was thereafter submitted to the Chamber of Commerce of Singapore and Penang for consideration and report. Singapore merchants expressed themselves against the Bill, with only three dissentients who could probably be named. The Penang Chamber, despite a long letter from the Singapore body urging them to co-operate with them against the Bill, resolved to support the measure, although it was of opinion "that certain provisions require considerable amendment," but it added that it thanked the Government for introducing the Bill. Until we see the reasons of the Singapore Chamber for rejecting the Bill, it is impossible to understand on what grounds they were induced to oppose it. It cannot be that they objected to the principle of the Bill. No doubt, a few of the older firms who have managed to subsist without a Registration of Partnerships Act were inclined to be suspicious of any legislation which proposed to deal with trade; but in our opinion the real objection to the Bill is the extraordinary timidity of merchants in the East. They say, on the one hand, that a law on the subject is essential to the proper conducting of business. Then when it is proposed to help them, to punish the fraudulent and to set up a measure which has worked satisfactorily in the United Kingdom and in India, they hastily draw back and begin to be frightened of their own shadow. Official and legal opinion is quite clear that the Bill is necessary. The mercantile community hesitates to deny the fact, but finds fault with every measure submitted. As the official Assignee, in Singapore has said—"A few of the older European firms consider that they will not be benefited by such a measure; but, he pertinently asks, in what way will they be harmed? The passing of such a Bill into law adversely affect trade? The same official who is an acute reasoner proceeds: "Again it has been suggested that, if partners have to register, rich Chinamen will cease to invest their capital in trade; but there is more than one way of having money in a firm and getting a share of the profits without becoming partner, and a Chinaman is the last person to be deterred from investing money in a concern that he expects to pay. Registration would show that such men were not partners: at present the firm gets credit on the strength of reports that such a man has money in the firm." Everything in the Bill tends to protect the honest firm and to sweep the swindling fraternity out of existence. At present in the Straits Settlements as in Hongkong there are no means extant whereby it is possible to discover the real partners in a firm. Trusting to the outward and apparent respectability of a firm, a mercantile house rather than lose a good order would possibly—in indeed, in all probability—accept the order off-chance that not having been defrauded in the past they could take the risk on this occasion. Then when the crash comes it is found that the real members of the firm were men of straw while those who figured, either impliedly or by actual assertion, as the stanch, solid partners who could make good any debt, have as much connection with the defunct concern as the man in the moon. That has happened repeatedly, and it will happen again. It will so long as there are no proper safeguards to protect the creditor firm against the rascalities of the debtor. What possible objection can there be to the disclosing of the partners' names? No English firm of repute would object for a moment and it is certain that all the first-class Chinese firms would be ready to follow that example. For the firm which is carrying on a straightforward, honest business has nothing to fear. It is the shady croak that finds himself up against a dead wall. Naturally he screams impotently; he shouts and protests that he is ill-used, and he will get a certain amount of sympathy from those who are frightened at the unaccustomed condition of things. The members of the Singapore Chamber of Commerce represent firms of the highest standing, but on the principle that discretion is the better part of valor, on this occasion they have run away from the question. They have hesitated to give the Registration Bill a trial and were lost. We are told by the official Assignee for the Straits Settlements that last year "the liabilities in estates of debtors against whom receiving orders and administration orders were made amounted to $1,293,982.42 in Singapore and $195,934.48 in Penang, according to the statements of affairs submitted by the debtors or made out from their books, or (where no statement of affairs would be made out) from the proofs lodged. The gross assets realized during the year on these estates amounted to $169,330.35 in Singapore and $38,196.84 in Penang, giving an average of 13.09 and 19.49 per cent. of the liabilities for the two Settlements respectively." In another part of his report the official Assignee states that in eighteen cases the debtors or all but the sleeping partners absconded or were not to be found. And he makes a choice remark about the non-absconders. He says: "The failures of these traders who did not abscond were almost all either distinctly fraudulent or characterized by trading with knowledge of insolvency." Yet in the face of that the merchants who have been defrauded prefer to be without a Registration of Partnerships Act. However, it is just possible that the Government setting the judgment of Penang against the hesitancy of Singapore may decide to give the provisions of the new Bill a trial in which case they will have the support of very many in the commercial world. At all events a trial is wanted, and why not in Singapore? Then it would be understood in a practical form whether this so-called interference with trade was justified or not, and if it were found to be unworkable nothing easier than to abrogate the Act. It would be a boon appreciated by merchants alike in the Straits Settlements (or a large proportion of them) and Hongkong to have the question tested by an actual trial.

PRINCE ARTHUR'S VISIT TO HONGKONG.

We are given to understand that, in view of the visit of Prince Arthur of Connaught, to Hongkong, en route to Japan, whither he goes to present the insignia of the K.G. to His Majesty the Emperor of Japan on behalf of His Majesty King Edward VII, leaving England on or about the 10th prox, it is proposed to postpone the St. George's Ball so as to be held on a day during the presence of His Royal Highness in this Colony. We learn also that a movement is on foot to arrange a race meeting on the same occasion, other events being also under consideration.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

THE German mail of the 8th November was delivered in London on the 6th inst.

WE are favoured by Messrs. Carlowitz & Co., on behalf of the Transatlantic Fire Insurance Co., with a copy of the Co.'s blotter for 1906.

WE are requested to remind our readers of the meeting to be held at the City Hall at 4.30 p.m. to-morrow (Friday), in connection with the proposal to form a Horticultural Society for Hongkong.

THIS morning Inspector Langley charged 12 Japanese women with stowing away on the s.s. Satsung at Sasebo, Japan, and thus obtaining passages from that port to Hongkong without the permission of the captain or officers, and without paying for the same. Five Japanese men were also charged with aiding and abetting the women in so stowing away. The women were convicted, and judgment reserved, the case of the men was adjourned, bail being allowed in the sum of $500 each. The women claimed that their friends in Japan handed over to the Chinese boat-wain of the Satsung $48 for passage money, and immediately on arrival in Hongkong the boat-wain absconded. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

IN summary jurisdiction this morning, His Honour Mr. A. G. Wise, Justice presiding, Leung Fun, owner of cargo lighters, sued W. ng Tsun, owner of passenger junk No. 8, 201 H., trading between Hongkong and New Kowloon, for the recovery of the sum of $700 being damages sustained by plaintiff through a collision between defendant's junk and plaintiff's lighter, on the 27th September, 1905, caused by the negligence of the master of the defendant's junk. Mr. O. D. Thomson appeared for the plaintiff, the defendant not appearing either in person or by representation, Mr. F. X. d'Almeida e Castro having withdrawn from the case. Mr. Thomson proved the claim, and judgment was given for plaintiff with costs against the defendant.

LAST night, about 9 o'clock, an Indian constable on duty near the York Buildings, saw a coolie loitering outside Messrs. Shewan Tomes' office, and, himself unseen, proceeded to watch the actions of the coolie. He then saw the coolie, who, it subsequently transpired, was a chair-coolie in the employ of Messrs. Reiss and Company, removing the brass name-plate belonging to Messrs. Shewan Tomes and Company, and which was screwed to the granite wall outside the latter's office. The brass screws had been removed and the coolie was making off with the plate, when the constable blew his whistle and made for the thief. The latter dropped the plate, and bolted, but ran into the arms of a Chinese constable, and the Indian coming up, the man was arrested and taken to the station, where, on searching him, two of the brass screws which had held the plate to the wall were found on his person. The charge was proved and the culprit was convicted and sentenced to three weeks' hard labour and six hours' stocks.

KING EDWARD HOTEL.

THE NEW BUILDING.

ANOTHER FIRST-CLASS CARAVANSARI.

Hongkong, for some time past, has seen the erection of some magnificent buildings, which will compare with any in the world, and the latest is the King Edward Hotel. It is certain that the proprietors of the King Edward have no fears as to the decadence of Hongkong, for the best testimony of their belief in the Colony's future and their view that the steady growth of Hongkong as a business centre and the growing importance of the city as a place where visitors abound, is made evident in the great hotel which has just been erected and will be formally opened in Christmas week. There are a few excellent hotels in Hongkong, chief among which is the hotel that takes its name after the Colony—the Hongkong Hotel—known by travellers all over the world. But as everybody knows there is plenty of room in Hongkong for another first-class hotel, and in that rank will stand the new King Edward, the embodiment of all that is latest in hotels. The present King Edward Hotel, whose admirable appointments and quietude have ever attracted a very large number of the people of Victoria, had no public bar, for instance, where soldiers and sailors might congregate, after the New Victoria had been converted into a bank, and it was a matter of deep disappointment to the proprietors that they could not meet the wishes of all their patrons. Then again, when the tourist season was at its height, numbers of those who desired accommodation had reluctantly to turn away because every room was engaged. For these and other reasons it was decided to build a new hotel, which should equal the best existing in Hongkong at the present time. It must be remembered that the proprietors are not by any means new at the business of hotel management. They have successfully "run" most, if not all, of the big hotels in the Colony. So, when it was finally determined to embark on the enterprise of having another first-class "caravansari," they entered into the scheme with spirit, and the result is seen to-day in the beautiful structure at the corner of Ice House Street and Des Voeux Road. There are a few fine buildings in the East, but not many finer than that which we are now describing. And whatever has been proved to suit a hotel is to be found in the interior of the King Edward.

THE PRESENT BUILDING. It should be stated that although the proprietors have entered their new premises, they have not discarded the old building except in so far as the front portion facing Des Voeux Road is concerned. What is at present known as the billiard room, the Hongkong residents' bar and the office will be converted into offices for the Taiwan Bank. The remainder of the building will be retained as part of the King Edward Hotel, but it will only be in the nature of a temporary arrangement of alterations will be made. The present dining-room becomes the public bar, where all and sundry may congregate. Those who know the fine proportions of this apartment will readily understand that it will make an ideal public bar. The entrance will be from Ice House Street, a new door being built in the centre of the Ice House Street facade. The bedrooms above will remain as before, but certain improvements will probably be made in their appointments, although so far they have proved quite satisfactory.

THE NEW STRUCTURE. Turning to the new structure, it is difficult to define the character of the design it follows, but the main point is that the first and foremost object of the architects has been to erect a spacious, comfortable and up-to-date hotel, without forgetting to give it that ornate appearance which belongs to the style of building in the immediate vicinity. They have succeeded so well that he must be an extremely short-sighted individual or absent-minded beggar who fails to perceive in the rejuvenated King Edward a notable architectural feature in Hongkong.

On the ground floor, as one enters from the Des Voeux Road side, there is the billiard room and residents' bar—a roomy, airy and altogether sprightly apartment, which will contain three billiard tables, settees and so forth, besides the bar. It is lighted by half a dozen great windows reaching almost from the floor to the ceiling, while at night it will be illuminated by a flood of electric light. There are five electric fans of the latest pattern. The bar counter and first-place are of stately appearance. The wood work of the Hotel throughout is of teak, both polished and otherwise. Taken altogether this first glimpse at the interior fittings gives some idea of the character of the Hotel as a whole. The ceiling is worked out in a classic pattern. Leading out of the bar is a billiard room, the lavatories which are constructed in first-class style and fitted with the latest devices in sanitary arrangements.

THE MAIN ENTRANCE. The main entrance for visitors to the Hotel is at the corner of Ice House Street and Des Voeux Road. Here is the office, a wide and spacious area which has the appointments of a luxurious waiting-room, being fitted with lounge, tables covered with magazines and newspapers. There is a sufficiency of electric light and electric fans. There is also a reading room, where the visitor may obtain what refreshments he may desire, and leading from it is the public telephone chamber which will be at the service of all comers, a condition of things which might well be observed elsewhere. The proprietors' office adjoins, and the doors are resplendent with fancy leaded glass panels which lend an air of cheerfulness to the second floor which attracts attention to the apartments beyond.

THE GUESTS' BAR. Facing the main entrance there will be a couple of saloons holding beautiful electric lamps. Proceeding upstairs, there will be found on the very first landing the guests' bar, or rather a bar which is placed there for the convenience of diners. It is a very cosy apartment, just the very place in which to meet a friend who is staying in the hotel and to hold a friendly chat. It is elaborately decorated and is all the rooms, and it will be largely patronised, there can be no doubt, when the Hotel is opened.

THE DINING ROOM. The great feature of the King Edward is the dining room. It is of immense size and so arranged that when a large dining party, say a hundred or so people, are desirous of holding a dinner, then half the floor may be shut off either by a screen or by sliding doors. In the event of the whole floor space being required either by diners or by dancers the screens can be thrown aside, and we have immediately a couple of halls which do not seem to compare unfavourably in point of extent with the combined St. George's and St. Andrew's Halls. There are no hanging lights here; the illumination is in the ceiling, or in the top part of the pillars. There are several ornamental devices into which ruby and white diamond lamps are set, which should throw a soft and pleasant light on the diners or dancers. In the event of the smaller of the combined rooms being required for a private party, then the entrance is by another doorway, so that there need be no communication with the regular guests or diners. The pantry and side rooms adjoin the main dining-hall, so that the waiters have everything at hand. When the various items on the menu are brought from the kitchen, they will be placed on a long table with gas-heating attachments, so that the food may be brought in hot and delicious, while in a second apartment the plates will be kept ready and the linen at hand. It may be added that these subsidiary rooms to the dining hall, have the floors and walls tiled so that they can be maintained beautifully sweet and clean.

In the height of the season when the dining-halls are ablaze with electric lights of various kinds, the guests cheerful and enjoying the good things set before them, the waiters prompt and bustling silently, and everybody in the highest spirits, the scene should be as bright and gay as anything to be witnessed in a great London restaurant, or let us say, to please our American friends, the wonderful Waldorf-Astoria.

SOME INNOVATIONS. Some excellent innovations are introduced by the proprietors of the King Edward Hotel. On each floor, there will be a "boy" in constant attendance. Whatever is wanted at a moment's notice will be obtained by him. In deed, that is one of the characteristics of the Hotel—prompt attention to the wishes and requirements, but swift, willing and cheerful service—a fact which should do much to extend the patronage of the Hotel, and one which all visitors to the East will appreciate. Again, on each floor, there is a speaking tube communicating with the office, and a telephone in connection with the Central Exchange. No need for a guest on the top floor, or anywhere else in the building to clamber down the stairs or wait for the lift in order to reach the office of the Hotel when he wants to telephone to a friend. The telephone is at his hand, "eye ready," which is in itself a convenience that will be highly appreciated by all travel ers.

On the second floor will be found the guests' billiard room, with a couple of tables in it. Comfortable settees line the walls; refreshments are at hand in the private bar, and at night a profusion of electric lights will illumine the scene. The guests' billiard-room is a quite explanatory of its appearance. Adjoining it is the smoking room, where a man may sit and watch the stars from the verandah or comfortably read the evening newspaper while enjoying My Lady Nicotine. The reading room, furnished with all the newest magazines and papers, is next door. It is furnished with lounges and sofas and easy-chairs, so that any sybarite will find himself satisfied with the surroundings.

A STYLISH APARTMENT. Further on there is a private dining-room which will accommodate 24 persons. It is a handsome and stylish apartment, away from the busy thoroughfare, where a select party may enjoy an excellent time. The ladies' dressing-room is near by, a luxurious and refreshing room, open to the breezes, right at the Des Voeux Road corner of the building. Like the rest of the special apartments it is furnished in an elegant and charming style, attractive to the artistic taste and thoroughly not to say delightfully feminine. Then there is a ladies' reception room, and a ladies' writing room, where visitors who come from the country—that is to say from a distance—may scribble a note to their friends. This is one of a suite of three rooms which are set apart solely for the use of ladies. The others are a tea-room and a sitting room. Needless to say all are fitted up in a manner which will compare with anything seen elsewhere, and should prove a rendezvous for the fair sex in Hongkong. In addition there are a cloak room, and lavatories, and all the usual accessories.

On each floor the ladies' and gentlemen's lavatory and bath rooms are widely separated, and the appointments are of the most modern type. The Marchioness is bringing from America a great stock of up-to-date bath room appliances specially selected by Mr. Dorabjee. The view from the Hotel is magnificent. On one side there is the Peak district; on the other Kowloon. From the top-story, the fifth floor, one overlooks the highest buildings in Hongkong. Every bed room has its verandah, and every verandah its view. But the feature is that there is a beautiful vista afforded from all the higher rooms, while the cool fresh air will refresh the tired visitor on the hottest day of summer. There are special corner rooms which are larger than the others, but all are admirable and with the exception of these corner rooms all are of the same size—about 16 feet by 30 feet. The furniture of the bed rooms is ample and splendid—bed, sofa, two lounge chairs, marble, dressing tables, mirrored almirahs and a couple of long mirrors besides and all the rest of the usual appointments. There are 40 bedrooms altogether, which with the 35 or 40 in the other building, give the King Edward a total of some 75 bedrooms. All the rooms in the new structure communicate with each other from end to end, and on the top floor a corridor 100 feet long and 16 feet wide runs the length of the building. The bath rooms are sufficient in number for all to bathe at the same time, so that there need be no waiting or hanging about.

An iron fire escape, with stone side walls runs from the top of the building to the bottom which should calm the nervous because it is absolutely fire proof.

On the basement there are special rooms for luggage and stores. The luggage that is not required will be placed on stands, while the wine cellars are both ample and large. Altogether the King Edward Hotel is a splendid example of what can be done in Hongkong in the architectural and furnishing lines. Messrs. Leigh and Co., Ltd., superintended the arrangement of the fittings. There will be a special opening night which, it is intended, should prove a notable function on a most illuminating occasion.

ALLEGED SUICIDE.

CAPT. J. T. SMITH OF THE "SIBERIA".

FOUND DEAD IN HIS CABIN.

The community of Hongkong was considerably startled this morning when the news leaked out that a prominent and well-known master mariner had committed suicide in the harbour some time last night. From inquiries made, this morning we learned that between 6.30 p.m. and 7 a.m. to-day, on entering the cabin of Captain J. T. Smith of the s.s. Siberia, which vessel arrived in harbour on the 3rd inst., from San Francisco, to take the captain's morning coffee to him, the boy was terrified to find his master lying on his bed with his throat cut, and the head lying on blood-saturated pillows. An alarm was at once raised, the chief officer called, but the captain was quite dead, and the body nearly cold. A blood-stained razor was found by the side of the corpse. The police signal was at once hoisted and the Water Police, boarding the Siberia, took charge of the body, which they removed to the mortuary, where a medical examination was held this afternoon, and also took charge of the captain's room.

There can at present be little doubt that it is a case of determined suicide, as we learned that during the whole voyage out Captain Smith appeared to be very depressed, and was understood to be worried over domestic troubles.

Captain James Tremayne Smith was highly thought of by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co., in whose service he had been employed for a period of over twenty years, serving with great satisfaction to his owners, and rendering himself very popular with the thousands of passengers who had travelled with him, as well as with a host of other friends ashore, by all of whom his tragic death is deeply regretted.

Captain Smith leaves a young daughter in San Francisco to mourn his loss, he having recently divorced his wife. A significant circumstance in connection with this melancholy affair is that the deceased, while in Woopung on the 20th ult., made and executed his will leaving all his property entirely to his daughter.

LEAVE of absence on private affairs to the neighbouring countries has been granted to Lieutenant R. M. Ranking, Royal Army Medical Corps, from 15th to 24th inst.

WHILE the boatswain of the s.s. Empress of Japan was on duty on the main deck of that vessel this morning, he suddenly fell to the deck and lost consciousness. When the doctor was summoned he pronounced him to be extinct, and a post mortem examination showed the cause of death to be heart disease.

YESTERDAY afternoon Inspector Gould raided the headquarters of a gang of professional constables, and their found 14 coolies engaged in an interesting gambling game. They were all arrested, and on proof of the charge before Mr. F. A. Hazeland this morning the two leaders of the game were fined $150 each, and the remainder $5 each.

BANKRUPTCY.

A QUESTION OF SECURITY.

This morning, before His Honour, Sir Francis Pigott, Chief Justice, presiding in Bankruptcy Jurisdiction, in the case of Choi Chung Lee, alias Choy Chong, ex parte Choi Tai Chinn Mr. F. B. L. Bowley, Crown Solicitor, appearing on behalf of creditors, applied for the discharge of the warrant issued by His Lordship last month. The debtor was now in police custody, in connection with certain charges of fraud in relation to his bankruptcy. Mr. P. W. Goldring, of Messrs. Britton, Hett and Goldring, representing the debtor applied for an order from His Honour for the return of the $5,000, deposited as security for the debtor's appearance by Leung Nam To.

Had Mr. Wakeman any objection to the refunding of the security?

Mr. Wakeman, Official Receiver, said he had no objection to offer.

His Honour: You apply then, Mr. Goldring, for the discharge of the security?

Mr. Goldring: Yes, my Lord, that is my application in effect.

Mr. C. F. Dixon, of Mr. John Hastings' office, representing other creditors, suggested that the money should be held until the public examination was completed.

His Honour: But if security was only given for the due appearance of the debtor. The debtor was now in Government custody, and there could be no better possible security than that for his appearance.

Mr. Dixon: Suppose he is discharged at the Magistrate's?

His Honour: When you must watch the proceedings and apply again.

Mr. Dixon: He might be discharged tomorrow afternoon, too late to make any application and run away out of the jurisdiction.

His Honour: Is he coming to the Criminal Sessions, or going to be dealt with by the Magistrate?

Mr. Bowley: He must first go before the Magistrate, my Lord.

Mr. Dixon: Yes, and he might be discharged by that Magistrate, my Lord.

His Honour: Yes, that is so; the Magistrate can discharge, or commit to the Sessions, but he has no power to convict. I can't discharge the security now. If he is committed to the criminal sessions then I can do so. I don't see why this security should be kept longer than necessary. Your public examination, if continued, Mr. Wakeman, won't touch upon the subject about which he is being prosecuted? That matter is concluded so far as the public examination is concerned, and it will now be dealt with by the Criminal Court, and his public examination will be independent of that?

Mr. Wakeman: I cannot say that, off-hand, my Lord.

His Honour: I should imagine the public examination will not deal at all further with the subject of the fraud; that matter is beyond us entirely, so that you will take such steps as you can to conclude the public examination. There is not very much left to examine him on now, I think?

Mr. Wakeman: I think not, my Lord.

His Honour: Well, run through the papers and see what more there is to examine him upon. The simplest course will be that the security stand until the conclusion of the further public examination, which you say will be concluded very shortly. Try to bring it off next Thursday, if you can. The warrant will therefore be discharged, and it is understood that the public examination will be concluded next Thursday, if possible.

Mr. Goldring: As your Lordship pleases, but the security has been deposited for a long time now, and the man in arrest for about six weeks.

His Honour: Is that so?

Mr. Bowley: Yes, my Lord, the security was deposited on the 4th August last.

His Honour: Then, Mr. Wakeman, push on to get the examination concluded next Thursday so that the security can be returned.

Mr. Wakeman: I will do so, my Lord.

His Excellency the Governor:—(to Dr. Ho Kai)—Have you anything to report with regard to your resolution on the subject of the workmen's tramways?

Dr. Ho Kai:—No, Sir. We have made inquiries and we have received a large number of communications from workmen on the subject and also from others. We have been very busy over the matter and have gathered a great deal of information, but we have not yet finished our investigations. I should like to have the resolution adjourned for another week.

Mr. Wei Yuk concurred.

The request was granted.

REPORT.

The Colonial Secretary laid on the table the report of the Examiners on Queen's College.

FINANCE.

The Colonial Secretary laid on the table Financial Minutes Nos. 58 to 61, and moved that they be referred to the Finance Committee.

The Colonial Treasurer seconded.

His Excellency the Governor said:—Of the four Financial Minutes which it is proposed to refer to the Finance Committee two of them Nos. 58 and 59, require a short explanation from myself. No. 58 includes a sum of $1,600 in aid of the rate for Annually Recurrent Public Works. The only considerable item included in that sum is one of $6,500 for maintenance of praya wall and piers. The reason why this extra expenditure is being incurred this year is that it has been advantageous to renew the pier opposite Observation Place while the praya reclamation grant is disposed of. The Minutes also includes a sum of $107,050 in aid of the vote for extraordinary Public Works. The first of the seven items which this amount is to cover is one of $7,500 for the Bacteriological Institute; the necessity for this is due to this money having been expended out of the sum voted in 1904, which was not anticipated, and accordingly the greater sum has been required for the completion of the building in 1905, which is a re-vote. The additional $15,000 as "miscellaneous drainage works" is required on account of such works being necessary in connection with the reclamation schemes at Tai-kok-tsu, Mong-kok-tsu, and Kowloon Point. The $9,800 additional for miscellaneous works is appropriated to a number of things, the principal of which is the advisability of carrying out some works of improvement in the Central Police Station, as the result of adding a new storey to that building. An additional sum of $15,000 is required for streets. This expenditure is incurred in consequence of the resumption of a piece of land which comes in the way of a 100-foot road which was to go from Kowloon Point to Pokung. The resumption is now being carried out and an exceptionally favourable opportunity of ours to perform the work contemplated. The $5,000 for waterworks is being expended in increasing the supply available for water boats at Lai-chi-kok. The requirements of water boats have very much increased since the Government supply was first established, so we ask this money to enable the Government to perform the work of supplying them. The next item of $10,000 is required in connection with the Tytam-tuk waterworks at which I dare say greater progress has been made than was anticipated. The other items speak for themselves. Turning from the details to the general effect of this vote which I am asking you to give on the Public Works Department for the year, and dealing first with recurrent public works you will remember that the original Estimates amounted to $180,500; the supplementary vote including the present one is $21,250. Against this there is an estimated savings amounting to $7,150 so that the total excess for the whole vote for the year will be $14,100 which is about 1 per cent. Then turning to Public Works Extraordinary, the original Estimates amounted to $1,815,000; the supplementary votes, including the one now submitted, amounted to $354,470. Against that the estimated savings are $279,540, leaving an excess over the original sum of $74,930. That is approximately the amount, $75,000, which we are to spend this year on the railway. This statement is not quite satisfactory from the financial point of view as I expressed to the Council three months ago to-day, Sept. 7th, as I did not then anticipate we should spend the full amount of the vote for Public Works Extraordinary. From the point of view of work done, it is on the other hand more satisfactory as we have made more progress than I anticipated before on the water works supply or the preliminary arrangements for the railway. And the financial aspect has also its brighter side because we are now in hopes of obtaining from land sales during the year a sum more nearly approximating the original estimate of $500,000 than the revised estimate which I put before you on the 7th September of $300,000. The other vote requires a sum of $16,891 in aid of the vote for military expenditure and volunteer expenses. The bulk of this is a re-vote due to the rifles and equipment which we ordered last year not having been charged to the Colony until the commencement of the present year. There is also a small amount, under $5,000, which has been required for equipping the volunteer troop.

The motion passed.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

His Excellency the Governor said:—Of the four Financial Minutes which it is proposed to refer to the Finance Committee two of them Nos. 60 and 61, require a short explanation from myself. No. 60 includes a sum of $1,600 in aid of the rate for Annually Recurrent Public Works. The only considerable item included in that sum is one of $6,500 for maintenance of praya wall and piers. The Minutes also includes a sum of $107,050 in aid of the vote for extraordinary Public Works. The first of the seven items which this amount is to cover is one of $7,500 for the Bacteriological Institute; the necessity for this is due to this money having been expended out of the sum voted in 1904, which was not anticipated, and accordingly the greater sum has been required for the completion of the building in 1905, which is a re-vote. The additional $15,000 as "miscellaneous drainage works" is required on account of such works being necessary in connection with the reclamation schemes at Tai-kok-tsu, Mong-kok-tsu, and Kowloon Point. The $9,800 additional for miscellaneous works is appropriated to a number of things, the principal of which is the advisability of carrying out some works of improvement in the Central Police Station, as the result of adding a new storey to that building. An additional sum of $15,000 is required for streets. This expenditure is incurred in consequence of the resumption of a piece of land which comes in the way of a 100-foot road which was to go from Kowloon Point to Pokung. The resumption is now being carried out and an exceptionally favourable opportunity of ours to perform the work contemplated. The $5,000 for waterworks is being expended in increasing the supply available for water boats at Lai-chi-kok. The requirements of water boats have very much increased since the Government supply was first established, so we ask this money to enable the Government to perform the work of supplying them. The next item of $10,000 is required in connection with the Tytam-tuk waterworks at which I dare say greater progress has been made than was anticipated. The other items speak for themselves. Turning from the details to the general effect of this vote which I am asking you to give on the Public Works Department for the year, and dealing first with recurrent public works you will remember that the original Estimates amounted to $180,500; the supplementary vote including the present one is $21,250. Against this there is an estimated savings amounting to $7,150 so that the total excess for the whole vote for the year will be $14,100 which is about 1 per cent. Then turning to Public Works Extraordinary, the original Estimates amounted to $1,815,000; the supplementary votes, including the one now submitted, amounted to $354,470. Against that the estimated savings are $279,540, leaving an excess over the original sum of $74,930. That is approximately the amount, $75,000, which we are to spend this year on the railway. This statement is not quite satisfactory from the financial point of view as I expressed to the Council three months ago to-day, Sept. 7th, as I did not then anticipate we should spend the full amount of the vote for Public Works Extraordinary. From the point of view of work done, it is on the other hand more satisfactory as we have made more progress than I anticipated before on the water works supply or the preliminary arrangements for the railway. And the financial aspect has also its brighter side because we are now in hopes of obtaining from land sales during the year a sum more nearly approximating the original estimate of $500,000 than the revised estimate which I put before you on the 7th September of $300,000. The other vote requires a sum of $16,891 in aid of the vote for military expenditure and volunteer expenses. The bulk of this is a re-vote due to the rifles and equipment which we ordered last year not having been charged to the Colony until the commencement of the present year. There is also a small amount, under $5,000, which has been required for equipping the volunteer troop.

The motion passed.

His Excellency the Governor said:—Of the four Financial Minutes which it is proposed to refer to the Finance Committee two of them Nos. 60 and 61, require a short explanation from myself. No. 60 includes a sum of $1,600 in aid of the rate for Annually Recurrent Public Works. The only considerable item included in that sum is one of $6,500 for maintenance of praya wall and piers. The reason why this extra expenditure is being incurred this year is that it has been advantageous to renew the pier opposite Observation Place while the praya reclamation grant is disposed of.
